Email privacy is a huge liability for all businesses.

Let's do more than just check the box.

Sensitive data is not only important to your business, it's also extremely valuable – to your customers and cybercriminals. Give your email the security stance your business needs with Email Encryption.

- Policy-based options based on content settings

Right-sized is more than a buzzword at AppRiver – we've got email encryption options that meet your business needs. Whether your business needs a broader gateway solution that protects your enterprise and simplifies the encryption process for your employees, or even if your practice just needs to be able to communicate securely with your customers, we'll help ensure your business is protected with the appropriate solution for your situation.
